Head Coach
Tom Gilmore

Tom Gilmore is in his sixth season as the head football coach at the College of the Holy Cross in 2009. The Crusaders stand 21-12 overall and 13-5 in the Patriot League over the last three seasons under Gilmore's leadership, both of which are the best marks in the conference during that time frame. Gilmore has also coached two-time Patriot League Offensive Player of the Year and two-time Walter Payton Award finalist Dominic Randolph.

In 2008, Gilmore's Crusaders posted an overall record of 7-4 and finished second in the Patriot League with a 5-1 conference record. Holy Cross led the league in scoring offense (34.4 points/game), passing offense (348.9 yards/game) and total offense (455.4 yards/game), while ranking first in the nation in first downs (25.9 first downs/game). In 2008, Gilmore had 11 players named All-Patriot League and four players selected All-New England.

During the 2007 campaign, Gilmore led Holy Cross to an overall mark of 7-4, while placing second in the Patriot League at 4-2. The Crusaders led the conference in total offense (463.4 yards/game), scoring offense (35.9 points/game), passing offense (335.2 yards/game), turnover margin (+1.0 turnovers/game) and pass efficiency (140.0 rating), while standing second in pass defense (183.8 yards/game) and pass efficiency defense (117.0 rating). Seven of Gilmore's players earned All-Conference honors in 2007, with wide receiver Ryan Maher being selected a first team All-American.

In 2006, Gilmore was named the Patriot League Coach of the Year, after his squad posted an overall record of 7-4, while finishing just a game out of first place in the conference at 4-2. The Crusaders nearly tied for the league title, as they suffered a one-point loss at Colgate in the season finale. Holy Cross also led the Patriot League in several statistical categories, including total offense (384.4 yards per game), passing offense (271.5 yards per game), pass efficiency defense (108.4 rating), first downs (239) and third down conversions (46.3 percent). In addition, seven members of Gilmore's team earned All-Patriot League honors.

During the 2005 campaign, Gilmore led the Crusaders to an overall record of 6-5 and a fourth place finish in the Patriot League with a 3-3 mark in conference games. In addition, Gilmore's team posted a 13-10 road victory over 10th-ranked Lehigh, good for the school's first win against a ranked opponent since the 2000 season. Following the conclusion of the 2005 campaign, seven Crusaders earned All-Patriot League honors, with tailback / kick returner Steve Silva being named a consensus first team All-American, and earning National Special Teams Player of the Year honors from Don Hansen's National Weekly Football Gazette. Gilmore's 2005 team also led the Patriot League in turnover margin (+1.0 turnovers per game), kickoff returns (23.4 yards per return), punt returns (16.0 yards per return) and red zone efficiency (scoring 90.5 percent of the time).

In 2004, Gilmore's first Holy Cross squad finished with an overall record of 3-8, rebounding from an 0-5 start to finish 3-3 in their final six games. The Crusaders tripled the team's win total from the year prior to his arrival, and finished among the Patriot League leaders in both kickoff returns (first, 23.7 yards per return) and passing offense (second, 207.3 yards per game).

Gilmore was introduced as the 27th head football coach in Holy Cross history on January 8, 2004, after serving as defensive coordinator at Lehigh University for the previous four seasons. During his time with the Mountain Hawks, he helped lead the team to an overall record of 39-9, two undefeated regular seasons, two Patriot League championships and two trips to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. Gilmore also helped Lehigh to first round playoff victories in both 2000 and 2001, with the Mountain Hawks winning the 2001 Lambert Cup.

In 2003, he shaped the Lehigh defense into one of the top defenses in all of Division I-AA football. The Mountain Hawks were ranked at the top of the Patriot League in several categories, including scoring defense (first, 16.8 points per game), sacks (first, 34 for a loss of 177 yards), rushing defense (second, 126.2 yards per game), total defense (second, 304.9 yards per game) and pass defense (third, 178.7 yards per game).

Lehigh also led the conference and ranked among the national leaders in first downs allowed (just 16 per game) and third down defense (23.8 percent conversions allowed).

In 2001, Gilmore was named the American Football Coaches Association Assistant Coach of the Year, after molding a young and inexperienced defense into a unit that allowed just 15.8 points and 86.6 rushing yards per game. The Mountain Hawks ranked fifth in the nation in rushing yards allowed and 12th in the nation in points allowed that season. Lehigh also ranked 19th in the nation in total defense (295.0) and fifth in turnover margin (+1.30). Three of his players were named to the 2001 All-Patriot League team, including Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year Abdul Byron.

In his first season at the helm of the Lehigh defense, Gilmore helped the Mountain Hawks rank sixth in the nation in scoring defense (14.5 points per game), and fifth in both rushing defense (98.0 yards per game) and turnover margin (+1.45 per game). In addition, the team ranked fourth in the nation in interceptions (22) and scored five defensive touchdowns.

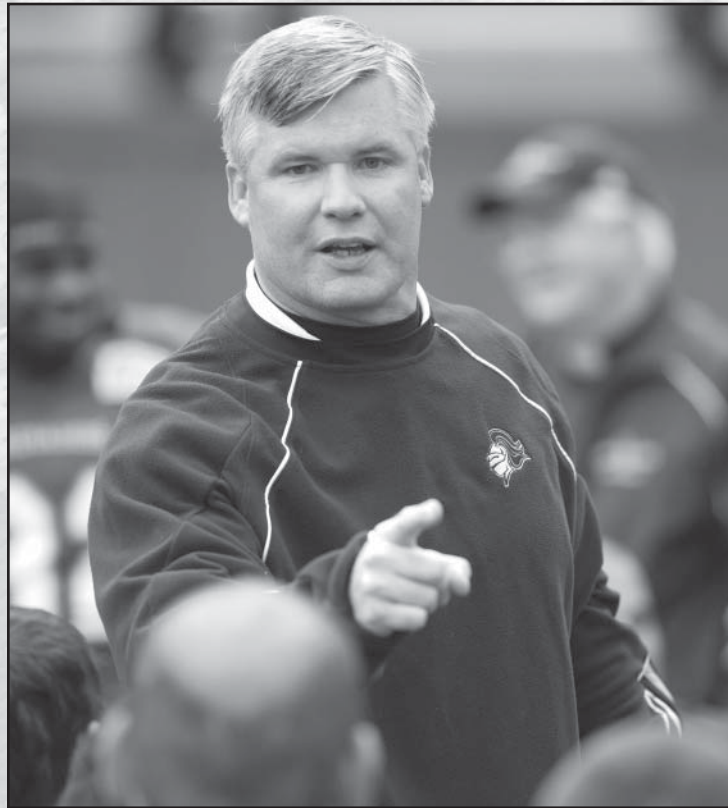

Prior to his time at Lehigh, Gilmore coached at Dartmouth College for eight seasons. While at Dartmouth, he served as offensive line coach, linebackers coach and defensive coordinator. He helped the Big Green to two Ivy League titles, and in the 1996 season, Dartmouth finished the year ranked 17th in the nation after posting a perfect 10-0 mark. Gilmore also helped Dartmouth to a 22-game unbeaten streak from 1995-1997, which still ranks as the third-longest unbeaten streak in Division I-AA history. In addition, Gilmore coached a team of Ivy League All-Stars to a victory in the 1996 Epsom Ivy Bowl in Osaka, Japan.

The Gilmore Family

As Dartmouth's defensive coordinator during the 1997 season, he led one of the best defensive units in the school's recent history. The Big Green ranked second in the nation in rushing defense, allowing just 77.3 yards per game and 2.3 yards per carry. Dartmouth also allowed just 16.5 points per game in 1997, while recording 40 quarterback sacks, 57 tackles for loss and 17 interceptions in 10 games. Gilmore's defense also scored four touchdowns that season, two of which were game-winning scores.

Gilmore began his coaching career as an assistant defensive line coach at the University of Pennsylvania in 1986. From 1987-1989 he served as the defensive line and outside linebackers coach at Columbia, before returning to Penn in 1990. He coached the Quakers offensive line for two seasons before heading north to Dartmouth.

An Academic All-American at the University of Pennsylvania, Gilmore graduated in 1986 with a bachelor's degree in computer mathematics. He helped lead the Quakers to four consecutive Ivy League titles, while earning All-America honors during his junior and senior years. As a senior in 1985, Gilmore received the Asa S. Bushnell Cup as the Ivy League Player of the Year, and he remains one of only two linemen to have ever claimed the award. He also earned the George A. Munger Award as the team's Most Valuable Player, and the Class of 1917 Award as Penn's top scholar athlete.

During his playing days, Gilmore set school career records for both quarterback sacks and tackles for loss, while being named National Player of the Week by Sports Illustrated following the final game of his career against Dartmouth. He was also named one of 11 National Scholar Athletes by the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame in 1985. After graduating from Penn, Gilmore signed with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League, where he played that summer at outside linebacker.

Born September 25, 1964, Gilmore and his wife, Joan, reside in Shrewsbury, Mass., with their two children, Sarah and John.

Mike Pedone Offensive Coordinator / Tight Ends 14th Season

Mike Pedone is in his second season as Holy Cross' offensive coordinator in 2009, and his 14th year overall on the Crusader coaching staff. Pedone, who also works directly with the tight ends, spent the previous 12 seasons as the offensive line coach, in addition to serving as assistant head coach for two years. In his first year as offensive coordinator in 2008, he led a unit which ranked first in the Patriot League in scoring offense (34.4 points/game), passing offense (348.9 yards/game) and total offense (455.4 yards/game).

During his first 12 years at Holy Cross, Pedone developed several All-Patriot League offensive linemen, including David Cannon, Chris Conley, Jefferson Exil, Steve Fox, Jamie Grabowski, Hall McMillan, Dan Nolan, Patrick Quay and Andrew Schoepfer. In 2007, he led an offensive line which paved the way for the Crusaders to lead the Patriot League in scoring (35.9 points per game), total offense (463.4 yards per game) and passing offense (335.2 yards per game). Pedone's offensive line also allowed just 14 sacks during the 2007 season.

Prior to coming to Holy Cross, Pedone spent one season working as an assistant offensive line coach and tight ends coach at Boston University in 1995.

Pedone is a graduate of Boston University, earning his bachelor's degree in 1994 and his master's degree in 1996. He had a distinguished career playing for the Terriers, serving as captain of the 1993 and 1994 teams which advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He began his career as a defensive lineman, but after switching to the offensive line in 1993, he earned All-Yankee Conference, All-East and honorable mention All-America honors in 1994.

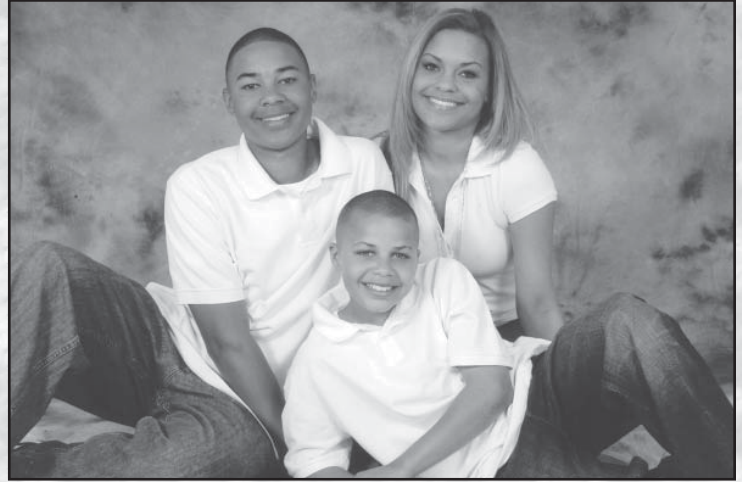

Pedone and his wife, the former Sara Ann Campbell, reside in Worcester with their son, Zachary.

The Rodgers Family

Richard Rodgers Defensive Coordinator / Secondary Fifth Season

Richard Rodgers is in his fifth year on the Crusader coaching staff in 2009, and his fourth year as defensive coordinator. During Holy Cross' six conference games in 2008, Rodgers directed a unit which ranked second in the Patriot League in scoring defense (20.5 points per game) and total defense (318.7 yards per game). In addition, four Crusaders earned All-Patriot League honors on the defensive side of the ball in 2008.

In 2006, Rodgers' defense ranked second in the conference overall in scoring defense (21.4 points per game) and passing defense (176.0 yards per game). He was also instrumental in the development of cornerback Casey Gough, who was a three-time All-Patriot League selection from 2005-2007.

Rodgers came to the Crusaders from New Mexico State University, where he spent four years working with the secondary. During Rodgers' time at New Mexico State, the Aggies improved from 87th to 40th in the nation in total defense. New Mexico State totaled 45 interceptions during his four years as secondary coach, while lowering its passing yardage allowed during each of his final three seasons. Among the players he coached at New Mexico State was All-Sun Belt Conference cornerback Tony Lukins.

Previously, Rodgers spent four seasons at Portland State University, where he coached the cornerbacks and special teams, in addition to serving as the team's strength and conditioning coordinator. During the 2000 season, Rodgers helped lead Portland State to an overall record of 8-4 and a trip to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He also coached two All-Big Sky Conference performers during his time with the Vikings.

Rodgers also spent two years as an assistant coach at San Jose State University, working with the secondary and special teams. In addition, Rodgers coached for the Scottish Claymores of NFL Europe in 1998, and was a coaching intern with the Oakland Raiders in 1996. He began his coaching career at Diablo Valley Community College.

Rodgers is an 1992 graduate of the University of California, where he was a two-time second team All Pacific-10 Conference selection from 1980-1984. He was the special teams captain for the Golden Bears for three seasons, and called "The Play" in the huddle to defeat Stanford in 1982. Rodgers was the second and fourth player to handle the ball on the famed five-lateral last play touchdown return. He also played professionally in both the Canadian Football League and the Arena Football League.

Rodgers has three children (Kayla, Richard and Christopher).

Pat O'Leary Defensive Line Fifth Season

Pat O'Leary is in his fifth year on Tom Gilmore's coaching staff in 2009, serving as the Crusaders' defensive line coach. O'Leary came to Holy Cross from Dartmouth College, where he had been a member of the coaching staff since 1989. He previously worked with Gilmore at both Columbia (1987-1988) and Dartmouth (1992-1999).

O'Leary coached both the defensive line and the linebackers at Dartmouth, and also served as assistant head coach from 2000-2002. He helped lead the Big Green to four Ivy League titles during his 16 seasons, including a perfect 10-0 record in 1996. O'Leary also helped Dartmouth to a 22-game unbeaten streak from 1995-1997, which still ranks as the third-longest unbeaten streak in Division I-AA history. In addition, O'Leary coached a team of Ivy League All-Stars at the 1996 Epsom Ivy Bowl in Osaka, Japan.

Prior to his time at Dartmouth, O'Leary served as the defensive coordinator at Columbia in 1988. He was also the linebackers coach for the Lions from 1986-1987, while serving as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach for Columbia's freshman team in 1985. O'Leary's coaching career began at Monsignor Farrell High School in New York, N.Y.

O'Leary, who is a 1976 graduate of the New York Institute of Technology, played collegiate ball at Missouri Valley College before joining the United States Army. After serving with the 101st Airborne in Vietnam, he joined the New York Police Department from 1970-1979.

A native of Staten Island, N.Y., O'Leary and his wife, Debbie, have six children and seven grandchildren.

Andy McKenzie Quarterbacks Second Season

Andy McKenzie is in his second year on Tom Gilmore's coaching staff in 2009, serving as the quarterbacks coach. During his first season at Holy Cross, he helped guide the career of 2008 Patriot League Offensive Player of the Year Dominic Randolph.

McKenzie came to the Crusaders after spending six seasons as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Allegheny College. During his time at Allegheny, McKenzie helped lead the Gators to the 2003 North Coast Athletic Conference title and a trip to the NCAA Division III Playoffs, with a perfect 7-0 mark in league games. His 2003 offense set 17 school records, while in 2006 his offense posted 2,505 passing yards, the second-most in school history. McKenzie's offenses featured a number of standout players during his six seasons at Allegheny, including running back Mario Tarquinio (3,187 rushing yards from 2003-2006) and quarterback Jimmy Savage (5,181 passing yards from 2003-2006).

Prior to his time with the Gators, McKenzie spent two seasons as the quarterbacks coach and recruiting coordinator at Williams College, where he was also an assistant baseball coach. He was also an assistant coach at Northeastern University from 1997-2000, working with the wide receivers for three seasons and the secondary for one year. In addition, McKenzie served as Northeastern's recruiting coordinator during his last two years with the Huskies.

McKenzie earned his bachelor's degree in English from Allegheny College in 1996, and went on to earn a master's degree in Exercise Science and Health Promotion from California (Pa.) University in 2006. During his undergraduate days at Allegheny, he was a three-year letterwinner at wide receiver, earning first team All-North Coast Athletic Conference honors in 1993 and 1994.

McKenzie and his wife, Salwa, reside in Worcester with their son (Braeden) and daughter (Yasmine).

Cazzie Kosciolek Wide Receivers / Special Teams Third Season

Cazzie Kosciolek is in his third year on Tom Gilmore's coaching staff in 2009, and his second season as the wide receivers coach and special teams coordinator. During the 2008 campaign, he directed a group of wide receivers which included first team All-Patriot League selection Jon Brock, and a special teams unit which featured All-New England kick returner Brett McDermott. Kosciolek previously served as the Crusaders' running backs coach in 2007.

Kosciolek came to Holy Cross from Newberry (S.C.) College, where he served as the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach during the 2006 season. He helped lead the Indians to an 11-2 record in 2006, including the first NCAA playoff appearance and victory in school history. His offense averaged 392.3 yards and 30.7 points per game, and ranked second in the nation with a 158.1 pass efficiency rating.

Kosciolek also worked at Newberry during the 2005 season, as the offensive line coach. He previously served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Fort Scott (Kan.) Community College in 2004. From 2002-2003, Kosciolek was the offensive line coach at Hofstra University. He began his coaching career at the University of New Haven, where he served as the offensive line and wide receivers coach.

Kosciolek is a 1997 graduate of Boston University, where he was a two-year letterwinner at quarterback. He was a member of the 1993 Yankee Conference championship team, and played on squads which made two trips to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He went on to play his fifth year at the University of New Haven in 1997, leading the Chargers to an overall record of 13-2 and a trip to the NCAA Division II championship game. Kosciolek was named a first team All-American following the 1997 season, and finished third in the voting for the Harlon Hill Trophy as the Division II Player of the Year.

A native of Summit Hill, Pa., Kosciolek and his wife, Christy, reside in Sturbridge with their sons, Owen and Max.

Jeff Oliver Strength Coach 14th Season

Jeff Oliver is in his 14th season as the head strength & conditioning coach for the College of the Holy Cross in 2009-2010. Prior to his time with the Crusaders, Oliver spent two seasons at Boston University as an assistant strength coach. He has also served as the strength and conditioning coordinator for the Worcester IceCats, the American Hockey League affiliate of the St. Louis Blues organization.

Oliver graduated from Boston College in 1988 with a bachelor's degree in business administration, and was selected to receive the Thomas Scanlon Memorial Award for Scholarship, Leadership and Community Service. He was a four-year letterwinner on the Eagles' football team, went on to play for the New York Jets from 1989-1990, then finished his career as an offensive lineman for the Barcelona Dragons of NFL Europe.

He earned his master's degree in education from Boston University in 1996 and is also a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist. Oliver and his wife, Kate, have four children (Peter, Corinne, Claudia and Keating), and reside in Worcester.

Mark McDonough Linebackers Fifth Season

Mark McDonough is in his fifth season on the Crusader coaching staff in 2009, where he serves as the linebackers coach. In 2008, two of McDonough's players earned All-Patriot League honors, in Sean Lamkin and Marcus Rodriguez. He previously helped guide the careers of All-Patriot League selection Dan Adams and two-time Academic All-District selection Chris Nielsen.

McDonough came to Holy Cross from Springfield College, where he served as inside linebackers coach for two seasons. He helped lead the Pride to an overall record of 18-3 and two NCAA Division III playoff appearances in 2003 and 2004, with the 2003 squad posting a 10-0 mark in the regular season and earning the top seed in the NCAA East Region.

McDonough is a 2002 graduate of Ithaca College, where he earned third team Division III All-America honors from Don Hansen's National Weekly Football Gazette as a senior.

McDonough is single and resides in Worcester.

Neal Boozer Assistant Secondary First Season

Neal Boozer is in his first year on the Holy Cross coaching staff in 2009, where he serves as the assistant secondary coach. Boozer came to the Crusaders from Dutch Fork High School in Irmo, S.C., where he was an assistant coach for the football, basketball and track teams for three seasons. In 2009, he helped lead the Silver Foxes to the South Carolina Class 4A state championship in girls' track. Boozer also spent two years as a special education teacher assistant at Dutch Fork High School.

A 2007 graduate of Lehigh University, Boozer was a four-year member of the Mountain Hawk football team, earning second team All-Patriot League honors in 2004. He helped lead Lehigh to an overall record of 36-11 during his four seasons, including two trips to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. Following the conclusion of his collegiate career, Boozer went on to play one year with the Bolzano Giants of the Italian Football League.

Boozer is single and resides in Worcester.

Bill McCarthy Running Backs First Season

Bill McCarthy is in his first year on Tom Gilmore's coaching staff, serving as the running backs coach. McCarthy comes to Holy Cross from Springfield College, where he spent the 2008 season as a graduate assistant coach.

During his time at Springfield, McCarthy coached the defensive ends and long snappers. He also coordinated the team's video setup and editing for all games and practices. Previously, McCarthy was a coaching intern at Maine Maritime Academy during the 2007 season. He coached the wide receivers and long snappers, in addition to coordinating the defensive, kickoff and kick return scout teams.

A 2007 Holy Cross graduate, McCarthy earned two letters for the Crusaders as an offensive lineman and long snapper. He was honored as the 2006 WTAG Special Teams Player of the Year, and was named to the Patriot League Academic Honor Roll in both 2005 and 2006.

McCarthy resides in Springfield.

Anthony Cerundolo Head Athletic Trainer 12th Season

Anthony Cerundolo is now in his 12th year as the coordinator of sports medicine and head athletic trainer at the College of the Holy Cross in 2009-2010. He is in charge of the coordination of medical coverage for all 27 varsity sports and oversees a staff of six certified, licensed athletic trainers. Cerundolo primarily works on a day-to-day basis with the football team, while assisting with the various other athletic teams. While at Holy Cross he has established a network of physicians composed of orthopedics, family practitioners specializing in sports medicine, and a fellowship program.

Prior to his time at Holy Cross, Cerundolo spent four years as an assistant athletic trainer at Harvard University. While at Harvard, he worked with the Crimson's football, basketball, lacrosse, baseball, soccer and swimming teams. Cerundolo also spent time as a graduate assistant athletic trainer at Boston University, where he worked with the football, baseball, hockey, track and field, field hockey and rowing teams. In 1994, he received his master's degree from Boston University in applied anatomy and physiology.

In addition, Cerundolo served as a volunteer athletic trainer at the Bay State Games from 1989-1997, and at the Boston Marathon from 1992-1996. He also spent time with the Pawtucket Red Sox and the Boston Blazers (indoor lacrosse), while working the NBA's pre-draft camp in 1999.

A member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association, Cerundolo received his bachelor's degree in athletic training and physical education from Northeastern University in 1991. He and his wife, Laura, reside in Worcester, with their daughter, Sophia.

Charles Bare Media Relations Director Sixth Season

Charles Bare is in his sixth year as the director of athletic media relations at the College of the Holy Cross in 2009-2010. He is responsible for the publicity of all 27 Crusader varsity sports, working directly with the men's basketball and football teams.

Bare came to Holy Cross after spending six years at the University of Massachusetts. During the 2003-2004 school year, he served as the interim director of athletic media relations for UMass, overseeing all public relations activities, information services and publications for the athletic department. Over the previous five years, Bare was an assistant director of athletic media relations, working extensively with the football, basketball and baseball teams, while supervising the media relations activities for a number of other sports. His 2000, 2001 and 2003 football media guides were rated the nation's second-best in Division I-AA, while the 2004 guide placed third.

Prior to his time at UMass, Bare spent two years as assistant sports information director at the University of Virginia. During his time at Virginia, Bare handled the publicity for two national players of the year in men's soccer — Mike Fisher (1996) and Ben Olsen (1997). He previously worked at UMass from 1994-1996, spending two years as an intern in the media relations office.

Bare graduated summa cum laude from the University of Notre Dame in 1994. He earned a bachelor's degree in mathematics with a concentration in business administration, and was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. He is also a member of the College Sports Information Directors of America and the Football Writers Association of America.

Bare is married to the former Talene Kafafian, and resides in Worcester.
